THÜRMER

Serving industry since 1898

COMPANY PROFILE

Bjørn Rosenvinge-Thürmer
Chairman of the board

Thürmer A/S has been a manufacturer of thread cutting tools since 1898. The starting point was F. C. Thürmer's invention of the square die. The company is today owned by Thürmer Holding A/S, which operates in the iron industry, in finance, in real estate investments and in the agricultural sector.

Eric Rosenvinge-Thürmer
Director. Sales and Marketing

Thürmer's aim is to develop, manufacture and distribute cutting tools of the highest quality, as well as to market a variety of related products.

Ready For Business

The range of products has since expanded in line with the growth of Scandinavian industry, and today we are able to deliver one of the widest ranges on the market.

- Thread cutting tools
- Thread Gauges
- Drills (metal, wood, masonry)
- Hole Saws
- Counter Sinks
- Various hand tools
- Coolant/lubricant
- Shop Concepts

We set great store by offering a complete customer service, which includes technical advising, fast delivery and after sales service.

Our products are distributed through approved local agents and dealers primarily to the trade industry, where there's a high demand for quality and efficiency.

The company has for many years exported widely, especially to the Nordic countries and Western Europe. In recent years our attention has also focused gradually on Central and Eastern Europe, where sales are rising rapidly.

Thürmer is recognized by both small and large customers as a highly professional partner in the cutting tools industry. Our specialist expertise is the off-shore industry in the North Sea, the iron industry as a whole, and the windmill, building, automotive and construction industry. For example we have been supplying the constructors of one of the world's highest buildings, the Taipei 101.

Our recent move in setting up a modern high efficient plant in China, has given us the possibility of a more cost-effective and streamlined production. Major investments have been made in our production plant, and with our solid capital base we are now fully prepared to meet the challenges of our second century.
